LEPERS
HAVING A
WARM TIME

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN IS ENGAGING UNIVERSAL ATTENTION AT KALAUPAKA AND KALAWAO.

The old question of whether candidates shall go to the Leper Settlement is up again for consideration. In previous campaigns the various parties have all had an equal chance at addressing the voters of the settlement, and have all gone, in spite of efforts to make a general agreement to cut the lepers out altogether, on the ground that the excitement was not good for them. An effort is now being made to get the congressional candidates to mutually agree not to go there, with the idea of having all the others follow suit. Notley is said to have agreed to this.

The settlement, however, is having politics of its own. Ambrose Hutchinson, the famous kicker, is a candidate for sheriff, and he is going the limit in speeches. He has two opponents, and the lepers are having the time of their lives with a political campaign that interests them more than any question of delegates to Congress or candidates for the legislature. The whole settlement is full of politics. Most of the inhabitants have nothing else to do but talk politics, and they are therefore discussing the situation with an earnestness and industry that no part even of the Territory of Hawaii can match.

Hutchinson gained much prominence in past years by his steady leadership in complaints, at every trip made by the Board of Health or a legislative committee. He always spoke and gave a long list of pillulas. During the last couple of years, however, he has been comparatively quiet and the settlement under the management of Jack McVeigh has been without troubles.
